

87 87 - SHIPSTON

(Firmly I Believe and Truly)

1. God's own lamb, and little knowing, of His love for children lost,
wandered I in danger's valleys;
yet for me those vales He crossed.

2. Christ, as lamb, in flesh appearing,
walked the path His flock would tread:
baptized in the river Jordan,
and to our salvation led.

3. Then I saw the water streaming from the temple's Eastern side:
blood and water, my redeeming,
merit from the crucified.

4. Through those deep baptismal waters
my salvation is sufficed, for as many as are baptized into Christ have put on Christ.

5. Home, rejoicing, safe He guides me, by the still, refreshing deep;
though death's valley looms before me,
He's my shepherd, I His sheep.
